DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of claims 1-3 and 10 in Paper No. 5 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 10, Pending claim recites "an unused I/O cell" and assigning this "unused" cell to be a power supply I/O cell. Understanding is that "unused" means "not used" or "not put to use". Then, this unused I/O cell can not be assigned as a power supply cell which is obviously used as a power supply.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in-
(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b)

Art Unit: 2811

only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Bassett (U.S. Pat. No. 6,242,814).

Regarding claim 1, Bassett shows in Fig. 2 a semiconductor integrated circuit comprising:

Pads (40's);

a first power supply I/O cell (one of 40's) which is connected to an external pin through a corresponding one of said pads; and a second power supply I/O cell (one of 40's) which is not connected to an external pin through a corresponding one of said pads, but receives power supply from said first power supply I/O cell.

Regarding the external connection to an external pin, Bassett shows in Fig. 4 one of Vdd cells (40) is connected to a lead frame with a wire (210) while another Vdd cell (40) is not.

Also, Bassett discloses inherently or in an alternatively obvious manner that all of a single Vdd pad are connected and placed directly over the Vdd bus, thus both a used Vdd cell and an unused Vdd cell are connected together through a bus line. And the bus is connected to a corresponding band pad site for a power supply, thus the unused Vdd cells receives power through the wire connected Vdd cell which is connected to the Vdd bus together with the unused Vdd cell.

See the respective portions of the specification of Bassett such as col. ~~2~~, lines 37-56.

Regarding claim 2, Bassett shows in Fig. 1 the semiconductor integrated circuit further comprising:

- an internal cell (20);
- a power supply line which provides power supply to the internal cell;
- a line (210 in Fig. 4) which connect between the first power supply I/O cell and the power supply line; and
- a line which connects between the second power supply I/O cell and the power supply line.

Note that an internal cell is for a signal cell (20) which is connected to a signal bond pad site through a wire (210)

As previously discussed above, Bassett discloses that both of the first power supply I/O cell and the second power supply I/O cell are connected together through the power supply bus line (Vdd bus line) to a corresponding a power supply bond pad site.

Regarding claim 3, Bassett discloses in Fig.4 the second power supply I/O cell is not connected to the corresponding one of pads that corresponds to the second power supply I/O cell.

Note that one of the Vdd cells is not connected with a wire 210.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Lin (U.S. Pat. No. 6,246,122).

Regarding claim 10, Lin shows throughout the Figures especially in Fig. 2 a semiconductor integrated circuit, made by a designing process that is comprises:

Art Unit: 2811

identifying an unused I/O cell (24) having no external connection; and assigning the I/O cell to be a power supply I/O cell having no external connection.

Lin shows that an unused I/O cell which is not in use and thus is not connected to an I/O pin (referred as an NC pin, a no-connected pin).

Lin shows in Fig.2 a no-connect pin (24) which corresponds to an unused I/O cell without an external connection, and this NC pin is connected through bond pad (22) to EDS protective unit (23) which can work as a power supply.
